Subject: Request for Proposal #219-14
DeVos Display Exhibit
Addendum #1 DeVos Center Space Clarifying Questions

1. Will there still be tables and chairs in the round after the display is in place?

Yes there will still be tables and chairs in the round. When you refer to page three of the RFP, it shares the display specifications. The expectation is for the two static panels to be on either side of the exit doors. So the tables and chairs will still be in the remaining space of the round.

2. Will the art on the high end of the walls (between the high windows and low windows) be staying?

Yes, the art is staying. We do not expect the display to be that high up. We would like it to be at a level that people can look and interact with it.

3. When looking at the space overall, is a theme to stay within, specifically to match the wood tones of the space?

This is more of a design element for suppliers to think about, we do not have a color theme for suppliers to follow.

4. On the Seidman Timeline, was the recessed lighting part of the building or part of the timeline display?

It looks like the recessed lighting over the Seidman Timeline is part of the building. We would not be able to change/update the building's lighting in the DeVos Center. So any lighting included should be part of the display itself.
